The drums are to be covered with black, and black crape is to be hung from the top of the Colour Staff of Infantry, and from the Standard Staff and trumpets of Cavalry, until after the Funeral of His late Majesty.

Message from His Majesty The King to the Army* A.O. 2 1936

Buckingham Palace,

I desire on my Accession to the Throne to express my thanks to the Army for its devoted services to my beloved Father. I recall with gratitude the noble response which the Army made during the Great War to his proud confidence in its loyalty, valour and steadfastness. Its welfare was ever in his thoughts.

My own association with the Army is now of long standing. I look back to my service as a young Officer in the Great War as one of the most valuable experiences of my life. It gave me the opportunity and the privileges of comradeship with soldiers drawn from the United Kingdom, from the Dominions, from India and from the Colonies. I learned to understand and to appreciate those essential characteristics which united them in the sternest crisis of our history: the same fervent attachment to the Crown, the same good humour and endurance in adversity and the same determination to uphold the traditions of chivalry and courage which are our common inheritance.

In the happier days of peace I have been able to see by personal visits the Military Forces of the Crown both at home and abroad, and have everywhere noted with pride the same gallant bearing which distinguished those forces in the field.

I shall be strengthened in the discharge of the great responsibilities which lie before me by the confidence with which I know I can rely on the unswerving allegiance of all ranks of the Military Forces of the Crown throughout the Empire.

FUNERAL OF HIS LATE MAJESTY KING GEORGE V.

Message from the King*

28th January, 1936.

I am commanded by the King to express to all concerned His Majesty's complete satisfaction with the military arrangements which were made, both in London and at Windsor, for to-day's ceremony.

The King was much gratified at the bearing and steadiness under arms of all His troops.

Royal Corps of Signals — Reorganization of A.O. 216 1936 certain trades.—1. As a result of experience gained since the publication of Army Order 362 of 1926, and in consequence of changes in the equipment of units of the Royal Corps of Signals, it has been decided that the combination of the duties of electrician and fitter in one trade of electrician-fitter is no longer practicable.

2. It has accordingly been decided to abolish the trade of electrician-fitter for new entrants into the Royal Corps of Signals and in its place to introduce two new trades, as follows :—

Group A Electrician (signals).

Group B Fitter (signals).

These new trades have now been added, under their respective groups, to those shown in the Pay Warrant, 1931, Appendix IV.

3. Electricians (signals) will be responsible for the charging of secondary batteries and for the maintenance of electrical equipment and such repairs thereto as can be effected without sending them into workshops.

Fitters (signals) will be responsible for the maintenance of, and repairs to, mechanical transport vehicles and I.C. engines.

Qualification sheets will shortly be issued for the new trades.

4. Training in the new trades at the Signal Training Centre will start on 1st December, 1936. On and after that date unskilled men enlisted or re-enlisted into the Royal Corps of Signals will be allotted for training as electricians (signals). Fitters (signals) will not be found

Army Orders.—November, 1936

A.O. 216 by training recruits but from selected despatch riders 1936 and drivers I.C., who will attend courses of instruction

The trade of electrician-fitter will not be applicable to men who enlist or re-enlist after 30th November, 1936; it will, however, remain in force for warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men who have already qualified, or who are on that date undergoing training with a view to qualifying, in that trade.

Men mustered as electrician-fitters may re-muster into the new trades if and when they are able to pass the necessary tests.

6. The necessary amendments to war and peace establishments will be issued in due course.

ARMY ORDERS

MESSAGE FROM HIS MAJESTY THE KING A.O. 230 1936 TO THE ARMY*

Buckingham Palace,
12th December, 1936.

29
General
760

On my accession to the Throne, I wish to assure all ranks of the Army that their welfare will be one of my chief concerns. It was a notable event in my life, four years ago, when my Father appointed me a Major-General in the Army, and that association has only served to enhance my admiration for the courageous and efficient manner in which their duties, however onerous they may prove, are invariably undertaken.

The task that lies before me is fraught with difficulties, but I know well that the heavy burden of my responsibilities will be lightened by the faithful allegiance of all ranks of the Military Forces of the Crown throughout the Empire

GEORGE R.I.

REPLY BY THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR WAR

The following reply to His Majesty's Message was sent by the Secretary of State for War :—

THE WAR OFFICE,
15th December, 1936.

Mr. Duff Cooper, with his humble duty, begs to submit the thanks of the Army for Your Majesty's gracious message, which affords great encouragement to all ranks in the discharge of their duties.

DUFF COOPER.

The Foundation of Fitness

In Army life, physical fitness is of paramount importance.

The "Litesome" Supporter-Belt is of the greatest possible assistance to all men who lead active lives. It braces and supports the delicate muscles of the lower abdomen and loins, relieving them of strain, and therefore warding off the heavy feeling of "bearing down" which results in fatigue. The "Litesome" wearer enjoys a "braced-up" feeling of lightness and well-being, keeps fresh as a daisy to the end of the hardest day, and retains the keen edge of alertness.

The "Litesome" also safeguards from the crippling effects of overstrain, rupture, varicocele, prostate gland, which have their origin at the vital part of the constitution. Therefore always wear a "Litesome" and

THE NATIONAL ORGANISATION for ex-Service Men

NAVY, ARMY AND AIR FORCE

All Officers and Men who have served in any of the above should join their local Branch and become members of this magnificent organisation, which, while maintaining the comradeship of the trenches, stands for justice for those who fought and suffered, and for their Dependants, and for the care of the Widows and Orphans of the fallen.

The British Legion helps men leaving the Services to find employment; aids in setting them up in business; cares for them when sick; and relieves their anxieties in many other ways on their return to civil life.

All now serving become eligible for membership on the termination of their service with the Colours.

APPEALS DEPARTMENT.—Donations and Subscriptions for the purpose of alleviating distress amongst those who have served, their Dependants, and the Widows and Orphans of the fallen, should be sent to:—
